

Re:memories

Evan Wu

You remember that one conversation we had about that one tv show you shit-talked and I couldn't let it go and it kept me up at night and you said that one thing that reaallly made it clear you haven't actually seen the show and you don't know what you're talking about?

I remember

My heartrate rose, blood pressure rose, breaths per minute rose, eyesight

Didn't rose (didn't rise)

Went white with rage

Do you remember that conversation? That Was Rhetorical Of Course You Don't Remember

Oh, you do remember? But you don't really remember

Not like I remember

Because sometimes it just gets to me and I really wish it wouldn't but it does and I don't get how people can just forget and not focus on every little minute detail that sticks in my head like its glued to a wheel on a scheduled rotation to let me know and remind me that I'm still fucking pissed.

I remember

With rose tinted

Rage tinted

Wrath tinted glasses (I should probably take them off)

But they're stuck to my brain, wrapped around it

Unremovable

Now every time I read about that show

Reminisce on that show

Rewatch that show

I remember

Really, dude?

You've ruined it for me and it's all my fault.